

Bio for Trip Thomas – Regional Sales Director Southern and Southwest Region, USA

Trip Thomas C.M.

(Regional Sales Director)

Trip Thomas is the EMAS (Engineered Material Arresting System) Regional Sales Director responsible for the Southern and South West Regions, for Runway Safe Inc. He has overall responsibility for sales and marketing activities throughout the Southern and South West Regions as well as other regions as required. Trip has had success working with airports and their consultants enhancing airport safety. His most recent accomplishments would include bringing the benefits of the EMAS technology to Charleston WVA (Yeager Airport) as well as to Fort Lauderdale (Ft. Lauderdale International Airport) as well as working with several international sites promoting Runway Safe's EMAS products.

Trip has over 25 years in technical sales work in several industries before coming to the aviation industry. Trip worked as a project engineer for a major plastic bottle maker for the pharmaceutical industry and within the bulk materials handling industry.

Soon after joining Runway Safe Inc., Trip became an accredited Certified Member (C.M.) of the American Association of Airport Executives (AAAE).
